DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. Applicant's amendment has overcome the rejection under 35 USC 101.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 3- 5, 7, 17, 18, and 25-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Runnels, 6,169,931, as set forth in the previous Office action. Further, note that the pad processing done in '931 meets the claimed language of "a method of making a pad" and "forming the pad based on said value and after said optimizing". The overall shape of the pad is preformed, but the pad surface is made based on the optimization steps done.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 8-14, and 19-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Runnels, 6,169,931 in view of Sonderman et al, 6,802,045, as set forth in the previous Office action.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 15 November 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Runnels discloses customizing a polishing pad in use by the chip manufacturer, and not by the pad manufacturer. Applicant argues that Runnels is not interested in customizing the pad, but the CMP process. The examiner agrees to the extent that Runnels does customize the CMP process, but that customization also includes customizing the pad, Note that surface roughness is a physical property of the pad, and that the sampling done to determine surface roughness and its effect during CMP is a "simulation" of planarization of the substrate as claimed. Further, applicant has not claimed that the optimization is done as part of pad manufacture in the rejected claims, only that the pad is customized. As claimed, this process can take place at any point in the CMP process or pad life. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Further, that Runnels discloses other method steps does not negate that Runnels teaches the method of the claimed invention.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
